OUR WORK

We've worked on 20+ projects, spreading the love of reading and writing across Houston and the world. Our various projects harness skills of public speaking, leadership, video production, interviewing, and, crucially, serving others. Our flagship project is iWRITER magazine, a quarterly publication written, designed, and published by kids for kids. iWRITER features visual art, articles, poetry, and short stories that connect to a central theme. Learn more about our work at iwriteyouthclub.com/projects.

WHO WE ARE

The iWRITE Youth Club is an extension of the iWRITE Literacy Organization (iwrite.org) that embraces the leadership side of the organization's mission. The club is a space for 6th-12th-grade students who love writing to learn how to lead with innovative ideas, network professionally, and engage with their community.

SO WHAT?

Here at the Youth Club, we are not only bettering our skills as young writers, but are also helping the community. Our work has positively impacted hundreds of students across iWRITE's partner Title I schools and affiliate programs like Family Literacy Night. The staff of iWRITER magazine span the nation and each member has made a positive change in their local communities through the publication. We have provided kids across the world a platform to learn from over a dozen award-winning, skilled professionals in the writing, marketing, and even STEM spaces.
